

Andrea Gadsbey

Tutoring for Success in GCSE English

Day 3 | 26.01 | 8pm

Andrea is the face behind Hope Tuition Clinic: a high-quality English literacy tuition service, supporting students in their English Language and Literature study from 11+ and SATS, right through KS3, GCSE and A level. Andrea has a wealth of subject knowledge and also creates free resources, videos, 1:1 and successful GCSE online group teaching. Andrea is a regular voice within the tuition community and enjoys networking and supporting established and new tutors alike. She also enjoys writing blogs for the QT community and is set to oversee and run the English Hub for QT from February. Her aim is to bring high-quality English tuition and professional development to as many young people and educators as possible.

Carina Leney

Find Your Social Media Why

Day 2 | 25.01 | 8pm

Having spent ten years in large corporates and ten years in small to medium agencies, working with brands such as Philips, Virgin Atlantic and Mizuno and partnering with retailers including John Lewis, Amazon, Boots and Argos, Carina has gained a unique and insightful perspective to marketing and social media! With expert knowledge and insight, she delivers valuable marketing methods and social media tactics to help business owners to better understand and be inspired by their customers, attract more of them, and manage their social media effectively - ultimately growing their business. Carina will be presenting some of her best social media tips to enhance your tutoring business and grow your brand. Connect with her professionally on LinkedIn or Instagram & Facebook for marketing & social media advice & creative inspiration!

Ilana King

Understanding the 7+, 8+, 11+ Entrance Exams

Day 3 | 26.01 | 7pm

Ilana King is an educator with over 25 years' experience in a variety of roles from class teacher to educational consultant. With over 10 years in the London entrance exam market, Ilana has become the 'go to' name for 7+ tuition in particular. Her expertise has enabled her to not only support parents on this journey through tuition, consultations and a book (The Parent's Handbook to the 7+ Entrance Exams) but also to train other educators who would like to enter this market. Ilana has truly become the "entrance exam whisperer". Find out more at www.educationpathfinder.co.uk.

Judy Brice

Supporting Dyscalculia Online

Day 3 | 26.01 | 8.30am

Judy Brice is an experienced online tutor who specialises in teaching Maths to children who struggle, especially those with Dyscalculia and other Neurodiversities. Judy's roles have previously included being Head of Maths at a Prep School. She passionately believes that 'Everyone can learn - we want to remove all barriers to learning and teaching and empower all to learn in their own way.' This workshop will give you more understanding of how making slight changes can help not just ND pupils. Learn how to use the available technology effectively and come away with several new activities to teach in a more visual, practical way using Cuisenaire Rods and algebra tiles and discs. Find out more at info@jmbeducationalservices.co.uk.

Karen Gibb

Calming and Mindfulness for Tutors

Day 1 | 24.01 | 7pm

Mind Marvels was created by Karen Gibb in response to ever-increasing mental health issues to provide practical strategies and calming tools for young people. Sessions are based on the NHS 5 Steps to Mental Wellbeing: Learn, Move, Connect, Mindful and Be Kind. As an experienced teacher and an anxious person herself, she now makes a direct, positive impact on young people and their emotional wellbeing through school, nursery and online sessions. Find out more at www.mindmarvels.com.

Kate King

Understanding How to Break Down Barriers for Learning

Day 1 | 24.01 | 10am

Kate provides expert support and advice for parents and teachers. With over 20 years of experience as a specialist teacher and SENCo, Kate's theoretical framework underpins her practical experience. She has postgraduate diplomas in Dyslexia and DCD/ADHD, combined with training across many other things that impact on learning, enabling her to make links and see past labels. Recognising and respecting neurological differences as human variation, Kate advocates an approach that is centered on the needs of the individual. She breaks down labels, providing practical recommendations and strategies that enable effective support and intervention, at home and in the classroom. Recommendations do not just focus on the current challenges but build towards the next stage of the educational journey. Kate's bespoke empathetic approach facilitates communication between all involved, enabling parents, students and teachers to feel empowered. Find her on LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/katekingskylark/> and at <https://skylark-consulting.co.uk/>.

Kayleigh Rapson

An Early Years Approach to Neurodiversity

Day 1 | 24.01 | 9am

Kayleigh is the director of a tutoring company which specialises in supporting students with SEND and neurodivergence. She is a qualified teacher and holds a master's degree in early years education. Kayleigh has worked as an early years teacher and educator for more than 13 years and has also supported students up to 18 years old with a range of conditions as a one to one tutor. Her master's research focussed around the use of support animals in early years settings to support children with social and emotional needs. Find out more about Kayleigh's business at <https://www.brightsparkstutors.uk/>.

Sarah Logan

Creating a Positive Online Classroom for Group Learning

Day 4 | 27.01 | 7pm

Sarah is one half of Next Steps Tutors and a primary school teacher of 18 years. She's taught over 400 children online in the last year, tutoring both one to one and in small groups. Sarah enjoys teaching maths, coding and creative writing. Her students are from all around the globe and have many different experiences of learning and life, so her adaptability has been key to creating successful classrooms. In schools, Sarah has mentored both student teachers and NQTs and she's recently joined the Qualified Tutor team as a Tutor Coach and Assessor. Of course, Sarah's not always teaching or coaching. When she's not, you'll probably find her swimming or paddle-boarding around one of the many North Devon beauty spots. Find out more at <https://www.nextstepstutors.com/>.

Syd Femtino

Branding: How to Stand Apart in a Diluted Market

Day 2 | 25.01 | 9am

Syd is a multi-award winning entrepreneur who has multiple successful businesses in the education sector. Her most recent venture, she started during covid lockdown in June 2020 and has grown the business to a team of 20. Syd is passionate about impacting the world through education and supporting other educators to achieve sustainable businesses driven by social change. She set up UK Educators Community after realising there was not enough business support available specifically for the education industry. Her new membership programme, UKED Tribe, is a monthly support programme to really push and excel your business. You can contact her at syd@ukeducators.com or visit the website at www.ukeducators.com.

Victoria Burns

How Do We Learn to Read

Day 1 | 24.01 | 8pm

Victoria Burns is a Qualified English Teacher with 23 Years experience in both the Secondary and Primary Sectors. Victoria is the founder of VB Tutoring. She devotes her time to supporting students with their Literacy Skills and her CPD Course will take you on a journey of reflection. How did you learn to read and how can we help our students to learn to read? Explore the scientific theories and explore how we can tackle Barriers to Learning. You can follow Victoria through the Qualified Tutor Community where she actively Blogs. You can also connect with Victoria through www.vbtutoring.co.uk.